

120 Estimated To Have Perished In Madrid Fire

Dense Smoke Prevents Authorities From Learning How Many Bodies Were Yet to Be Extricated From Ruins of Theatre—Injured Placed at 350.

Madrid, Sept. 24 (P).—Approximately 120 persons were officially estimated today to have perished in the Novedades Theatre when it caught fire during a crowded Sunday evening performance. The injured were estimated at more than 350. Exact figures have not been established because dense smoke coming from the smouldering ruins prevented authorities from learning how many bodies were yet to be extricated.

Most of the victims were not burned but were either suffocated or crushed during the stampede for the exits.

Soldiers Keep Back Crowds.

Bodies were being taken from some sections of the ruins this morning. Soldiers kept back a large crowd of anguished persons who clamored for news of relatives and friends. A family in Chambery, a suburb, reported 13 members missing, but it was believed that they might have passed the night with friends.

The blaze started during a storm scene on the stage. The theatre, which was one of the largest in Madrid, held 4,000 persons and it was crowded to capacity.

Electrical sparks ignited the ropes or part of the scenery and the flames spread rapidly to other parts of the stage setting.

The theatre was equipped with modern precautions against fire but it was very old and the wooden framework burned rapidly.

People were massed in the narrow aisles frantically fighting their way to the three exits at the front of the building. Soon these exits were choked with the struggling mass and many were blocked from escaping from the galleries.

Only a few smouldering ruins remained of the Novedades Theatre, the largest and one of the oldest in the Capital. Crowds of grief-stricken persons sought relatives or friends near the theatre as a strong force of police and soldiers with fixed bayonets kept back a dense mass of spectators. Heart-breaking scenes were enacted at the hospitals.

Theatre Packed to Capacity. When the flames started on the stage during an intermission, the theatre, which held 3,000, was packed to capacity for a Sunday performance of "La Mejor Del Puerto."

There was a rush for the exits, men, women and children being trampled in the stampede. Occupants of seats on the first floor and boxes were able to make their way out, but those in the galleries were less fortunate and soon the exits were choked with struggling masses. There were many children in the balconies.

Twenty-five bodies were found huddled together on one of the landings. Still other bodies were on the stairways and in different rooms but it was impossible to count them in the semi-darkness, lit only by torch-bearers. Many parts of the ruins were almost inaccessible as rescue workers labored to clear away the debris.

When the fire was at its height some of the audience could be seen with their clothing ablaze, struggling to escape. One frantic man after being trampled in the crush rushed wildly about asking for news of his wife and five children, with whom he had come to the theatre on his birthday.

When the flames in the theatre died down, darkness fell over the scene as gas and electric street lamps had been put out through the destruction of mains and conduits. The work of the firemen was greatly hampered until army engineers arrived with flares.

The news of the disaster quickly spread throughout the city. Premier Primo De Rivera rushed to the scene and took charge of the situation. Every available motor car was commandeered to remove the injured. A company of infantry was called out to help. First aid stations were quickly filled. Many of the injured were found to be only slightly hurt.

COLUMBIA COUNTY MAN WAIVES EXAMINATION.

George W. White, who was arrested in Columbia county several days ago by Federal enforcement officers and a quantity of alleged liquors seized at Hollowville Inn, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connolly on Saturday. He was charged with possession and through his attorney, John M. Cashin of New York and Kingston, waived examination to await the action of federal grand jury in U. S. District Court in New York. He was released on giving a permanent bond in $500.

Clifton Avenue Residence Sold.

The ten room dwelling located at 47 Clifton Avenue owned by Dewitt Whitney has been sold, through the real estate brokerage agency of Frank S. Hyatt, 281 Fair Street, to Edward P. Ward, who has already taken possession and will reside there in the future.

Girl Hit By Auto. It was reported to the police Sunday by Ernest Paken that his auto had struck a little girl on Clifton Avenue, but she was not injured. The name of the child was not obtained by Mr. Paken.

Denies Religion Underlies Appeal

Statement Embodied in Address Prepared for Delivery Before Ohio Methodists by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt—Five Pages of Speech Recalled After Distribution to Newspapers.

Lorain, O., Sept. 24 (P).—A denial that religious motives underlay her recent appeal to the Ohio conference of the Methodist church to oppose the election of Governor Smith was embodied in an address prepared for delivery here last night by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

Later, dispatches from Chicago said that five pages of publicity containing a portion of Mrs. Willebrandt's speech had been recalled by western Republican headquarters after distribution to newspapers. No explanation was given beyond a statement that a "mistake had been made."

In reply to criticism voiced by Smith in his Oklahoma city speech, Mrs. Willebrandt said in her address, as given to the press, made a counter charge that Smith had "become the greatest force for disregard of the prohibition laws in America today," and as such "drew" her opposition. The address was for delivery before the northeast Ohio conference of the Methodist Church. Two resolutions endorsing Herbert Hoover were submitted for action at the conference today.

Shields Himself Behind Religious Issue.

"Religion has nothing to do with it," Mrs. Willebrandt said in the prepared copy of her address. "We condemn his (Smith's) record, acts and utterances. These make him wince. So he seeks to shield himself behind a religious issue—an issue that he raised himself in this campaign."

She declared the churches were justified in entering the campaign by Smith's message to the Houston convention. Prohibition she termed a "moral issue which the churches have long espoused."

She charged that it was "given a place in the campaign," by Governor Smith in an effort "to split the dry forces" along sectional lines.

"Did the happy warrior," she asked, "engaged in calling his anti-Prohibition Braves about him for a war dance over the Eighteenth Amendment actually think you could be warded back with the admonition to keep away from worldly things?"

Part of Address Recalled.

Chicago, Sept. 24 (P).—Five pages of publicity containing part of an address delivered last night at Lorain, O., by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States Attorney General, have been recalled by western Republican headquarters from the newspapers to which they had been sent.

The publicity quoted Mrs. Willebrandt as appealing to the ministers at the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church to oppose Governor Smith of New York for the Presidency on the Prohibition issue. It also served as a disclaimer by Mrs. Willebrandt that she had been moved in this or any previous address by the issue of religion.

No explanation was made by Republican western headquarters in retreating the mimeographed extracts of the Willebrandt speech except the statement that a mistake had been made.

Ulster Red Cross Meeting

The executive committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a meeting on Wednesday, September 26, at 7:45 o'clock at Supreme court chambers in the court house, Kingston, to arrange for the twelfth Annual Red Cross Roll Call. Suitable action will also be taken in the matter of the applications for assistance from the sufferers of the recent flood in Ulster county and there will also be the transaction of such other business as may properly come up before the meeting. All members of the committee are urged in the name of the Chapter and E. E. Oughtletree, secretary-treasurer to be present.

TWO ACES OF SPADES RESULTS IN MURDER

Chicago, Sept. 24 (P).—Both Le-mont Coppage and William Porter had aces in the hole in the stud game they were playing yesterday. The trouble was that both aces were of the same suit—spades. Coppage was shot dead. Porter was arrested.

KINGSTON MAN IN CRASH WITH SALESWOMAN'S CAR

Friday evening the cars of John A. Bordell of Long Island City and Joseph Stout of Kingston collided in front of the residence of James T. Maxson on Market street, Saugerties. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

Four Charged with Intoxication.

William Gray and Harry McCloud of Highland were placed in the Ulster county jail on Sunday to be held to await a hearing before John J. Wadlin, a justice of the peace of the town of Lloyd, on a charge of public intoxication. Martin Gately and William McCabe of East Kingston, also charged with public intoxication, were new arrivals on Sunday to be held for a hearing before Judge Charles P. Jennings at Lake Katrine.

Hoover Still Ignores Attacks

And Keeps Clear of Distracting Controversies—His Secretary Denies Charges of Hypocrisy Made by Senator Bruce.

Washington, Sept. 24 (P).—Resolutely ignoring all open and undercover attacks upon him, Herbert Hoover is pursuing his course of conducting a campaign in favor of the issues and the candidates of the Republican party and keeping clear of distracting controversies.

His determination in this respect was given public expression again Saturday in a short talk to former service men who called on him here and was reiterated yesterday to his intimates in connection with an attack made upon him by Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, who charged hypocrisy in connection with the nominee's declaration for constitutional prohibition.

Before the Bruce charge had been called to the attention of the Republican presidential nominee, his secretary, George Akerson, had denied it, declaring that not only had Hoover never taken a drink with Clarence Darrow, but had not "taken a single drink of intoxicating liquor since he became a constitutional executive officer of the United States and has never had a drop of liquor served at his home."

Darrow Also Denies Story.

Darrow, at his home in Chicago, added his denial, and it was indicated that the matter would rest there so far as Hoover headquarters are concerned. Detailed information has been received at these headquarters of various under cover attacks on Hoover, but these have been ignored. As represented by his close associates, the feeling of the Republican candidate is that they should not be dignified by a denial.

Having passed the half way in the campaign, counting his acceptance speech as the opening of his fight for the presidency, Hoover had behind him three of the six major addresses he has mapped out before beginning the return trip to his Stanford University home.

The rough draft of the fourth address, to be delivered at Elizabeth-Tenn., on October 6, was completed today and the nominee hopes to have the finished product ready within a few days. If he does his friends will seek to prevail upon him to take a few days of rest and recreation.

The fifth speech will be at New York on October 16 and the sixth at Boston, probably some time between October 22 and 25.

Starts for California Oct. 29.

Hurrying back to Washington from Boston, the candidate will clean up affairs here and set out around October 29 for the long run back to California to vote.

Hoover had no engagements for today and planned to put in most of his time re-drafting his Elizabeth-Tenn. address before going to the National Press Club building in the early evening to attend a dinner given by editors of business and trade papers.

This function is held about three times yearly and while he was secretary of commerce Hoover always attended.

Additional reports on conditions in individual states come to headquarters daily, the latest being sent by Senator Borah of Idaho, who reported on Kentucky and Tennessee in which he spoke last week. "These two states are in fine shape," said the brief message of Borah.

BELIEVE ATTACK WAS DIRECTED AGAINST MORROW

Mexico City, Sept. 24 (P).—El Universal today expressed the belief that an attack staged by twenty-five bandits on the village of Huiztilac, midway between Mexico City and Cuernavaca, was directed against Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador.

Mr. Morrow, who was spending the week end at his new residence in Cuernavaca, arrived in Huiztilac after the bandits had been driven off and proceeded to Mexico City, arriving there safely.

The newspaper asserted that some one in Cuernavaca had warned the brigands by telephone of Mr. Morrow's departure by automobile and the coup failed because the outlaws failed to take Huiztilac before he arrived.

The bandits in marching toward Huiztilac did not attempt to hold up any passing automobiles, apparently being bent on seizing the town. The men were disguised in the uniforms of federal soldiers and were thought to have intended to take the village garrison by surprise. The soldiers, however, opened fire upon the bandits when they failed to recognize them and the outlaws fled to the mountains after a brisk encounter.

WILLIAM DEFFEY MIST SUPPORTS WIFE AND CHILD

William Deffe, 12, of East Chester street, was directed to pay his wife $10 a week toward the support of herself and their baby when he was arraigned before Judge Shuteidt in police court on Saturday. He was also directed to furnish a $500 bond to secure the weekly payments. In default of furnishing the bond he was remanded to the county jail. Deffe was arrested some time ago and at that time Judge Shuteidt arranged to obtain him a job from the city, and he informed the judge Saturday that the reason he did not hold the job was because it was "too hot to work."

Relief Workers Plans Advance Face Problem of For Airport Here Rehabilitation

Adequate Space Now Available to Meet High Requirements for Recognized Government Municipal Airport—Work Started to Level Newly Acquired Fields.

With the acquisition of the adjoining Walker fields by the Kingston Airways Company adequate space is now available to meet the high requirements for a recognized government municipal airport. While other cities are vying with one another to find suitable landing fields and men capable of managing them, Kingston without effort has procured both.

Manager Frederick H. Brougham has had considerable experience in establishing successful airports. It was he who planned and supervised the construction and organization of the well known airport at Plainsfield, N. J. For three years he was associated with the famous Curtiss Field, where he owned and operated two Waco passenger planes.

Mr. Brougham is ably assisted by James McLean, a pilot and aviation motors expert of many years' standing. Enlisting early in the war Mr. McLean received flying instruction from Walter E. Hinton, the famous trans-Atlantic flyer. Members of the same class for instruction were the equally famous Commander Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennett, of North Pole and trans-Atlantic fame. After the war Mr. McLean became associated with the Curtiss factories at Buffalo.

The sudden and rapidly increasing demand for pleasure and commercial planes has resulted in a serious shortage of men to fill the position. Competent instruction will be given to qualify students to become expert pilots, mechanics or fitters.

A trip over the beautiful foothills of the Catskills or the Hudson River may be had at a very reasonable rate. Many Kingston citizens have availed themselves of this splendid opportunity for aerial photography.

Lindgren to do Parachute Jumping.

To stimulate interest in Kingston's Airport, Manager Brougham has engaged Lt. Eric Lindgren to give free exhibitions of parachute jumping. At 15 years of age, Lindgren, then a citizen of Sweden, was sent to military school. At the age of 17 years he was commissioned lieutenant in the Aviation Corps. After the war he came to the United States and received a commission as parachute instructor to army officers at Kelley Field, Mr. Lindgren has completed 887 parachute drops.

After the completion of his 1,000th jump Mr. Lindgren plans to abandon parachute jumping and make the final leap into matrimony.

As railroads were a tremendous factor in the development of cities it is recognized that progressive towns possessing suitable airports will profit in the future. Albany is investing $2,000,000 in such a project. Danbury has appropriated $1,000,000 and other cities are doing likewise. With its natural landing field and strategic location, with a small expenditure Kingston can soon have a government recognized airport.

Work is being started at once to level the newly acquired fields. Trees will be dynamited and all obstructions removed. It is hoped that the city will lend a hand in this project. Tractors can accomplish this in short order with a minimum of expense. Plans are being made for the erection of flood and ground lights, and a T wind indicator, so necessary in effecting a safe landing. A hangar, it is hoped, will be constructed immediately. For a few thousand dollars Kingston will be able to obtain that which other less fortunate cities are eager to spend millions for—an ideally located municipal airport.

ARMY BAND CONCERT AT ARMORY FRIDAY

Kingston will be one of 50 cities to hear the U. S. Army Band on its forthcoming public concert tour. Two concerts will be given at the local armory, one in the afternoon and another in the evening of Friday, September 28. They will be rendered under the auspices of the First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery.

The local unit of the 156th deems itself fortunate in being able to bring the U. S. Army Band to Kingston and feels that the concerts will be largely attended. The band has been on the air over various radio stations on outstanding occasions such as the homecoming of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and likely there will be many who wish to hear and see the group of musicians in person.

CROSS BURNED ON EVE OF SMITH'S ARRIVAL

Billings, Mont., Sept. 24 (P).—On the eve of the arrival in Billings tomorrow of Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic Presidential nominee, a fiery cross burned for almost an hour shortly after 9 o'clock last night at a high point on the Rim Rock just north of the business district.

It was visible from every part of the city. Lighting of the cross was preceded by several explosions of dynamite. Investigation at the scene ten minutes later failed to disclose presence of any one in the vicinity.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Glenford W. Genthner, Saugerties, a son, Glenford William, Jr., at City of Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lipton, 17 Clifton Avenue, a daughter, Evelyn Frances, at City of Kingston Hospital.

South Ashokan Boulevard Burglaries. Several places on the South Ashokan boulevard were entered by burglars last week. The burglaries were reported to the State Troopers who are making an investigation. Various articles were removed from the places which include a number of summer cottages and the Dam Side Garage.

Bitten by a Dog.

Joseph Conroy of 49 Hanratty street reported to the police Sunday morning that he had been bitten by a stray dog at Hunter and Abeel streets. He received medical treatment for the wound.

Many County Properties Sold At Tax Sale

Judge Clearwater Named as Delegate

Governor Alfred E. Smith has appointed Judge Clearwater a delegate to represent the state of New York at the annual session of the American Prison Congress to be held at Kansas City, Mo., October 5 to 11 next. The judge, who was district attorney of Ulster county for nine years, and county judge for eight years before becoming a justice of the Supreme court, for seventeen years has been the vice president of the State Probation Commission. He was appointed by Senator Root, president of the Constitutional Convention of 1915, chairman of the committee on the prevention and punishment of crime, and has delivered several addresses before the American Bar Association and the New York State Bar Association upon various phases of criminal propensity and the punishment of crime.

In his addresses, he condemned with severity the view of Lombroso, the great Italian psychologist whose attitude was and is that persons who commit crime are not morally responsible because they suffer from an inherited impulse which unconsciously forces them into a criminal career.

Judge Clearwater pronounced this view as superlative nonsense and always has taken the attitude that the punishment of the offender is not the principal aim; that the great accomplishment is the deterring of others from the commission of criminal acts. He is of the view that an enforcement of law with prompt austerity is far more beneficent than the coddling of offenders upon the predicate that they cannot help sinning.

Recently he said to a group of legislative reformers who asked him to endorse their application to the Legislature for the abolition of all prisons and the creation of hospitals in their stead, that although he had been born and brought up a Calvinist, and was willing to make a generous allowance for the great doctrines of predestination, foreordination and election, his experience had convinced him that they were somewhat modified by the ancillary doctrine of free will.

No money was paid at the sale and this hastened the disposition of the properties which originally numbered some 650 parcels in the county. When a parcel was sold, the name of the bidder was secured and a memorandum was made of the purchase by clerks. The purchaser later claimed the memorandums and payments due will be made Tuesday.

Those who purchase properties have nothing to do with their purchases for a year. The right to reclaim property by payment of the bid amount with interest, follows the property. At the end of nine months the county treasurer will publish a notice of redemption. Bidders on properties not redeemed at the end of a year will receive notices which will have to be served according to law on the occupant of the property and a return made to the county treasurer and the county clerk. At the end of 18 months if the properties are not redeemed by the original owner they become the property of the person who bid them in at the sale. A deed is given the purchaser.

Indications that the sale might be concluded today were in evidence at the morning session when many of the properties were disposed of. The sale was adjourned at noon to 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when the work of disposing of lands in the town of Rochester was taken up. Properties were sold as follows:

Grave Concern Over Influenza

With 15,000 Cases Reported Physicists Are Alarmed at Situation—Red Cross Work Progressing.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 24 (AP).—With 15,000 cases reported by health authorities and the Red Cross, an epidemic of influenza caused grave concern in Porto Rico today. In addition thousands of cases of malaria, measles and other diseases have also been reported.

Physicians said frankly they were alarmed at the situation. Red Cross officials announced that no town of the island was without an increasing number of influenza cases and that pneumonia cases were increasing.

It was possible if the influenza cases continued to develop into pneumonia that there would be an outbreak of the disease. The Red Cross was ready to assist the health commission if he decided he needed additional forces.

Hospital units arriving from New York will be broken up into small groups and scattered where the danger is greatest. Traveling conditions make the concentration of the sick difficult.

Health conditions were aggravated yesterday by numerous rain storms. With only temporary shelter, many of the people faced added misery. Plans were rushed to unload the transport trucks, which is bringing 20,000 blankets and 2,000 beds. A train was loaded with lumber and ready to proceed inland, opening up the railroad for the first time since the disaster.

At a meeting of representatives of the island's 77 towns, 284,000 homeless were reported from 38 of the towns. Henry M. Baker, national disaster relief director of the Red Cross, said that the total was probably double this.

Mr. Baker announced that the news reporting gave 210 dead and 1,771 injured. The Red Cross representatives, while requesting additional supplies, reiterated that relief work was progressing efficiently.

Two steamships were on their way to Ponce and Mayaguez with relief supplies donated by the people of the Dominican Republic to be distributed through the Red Cross.

Mr. Baker, who returned from a trip to the Virgin Islands, said that 11,500 persons in St. Croix needed help.

"I have never worked at the scene of any disaster where similar eager cooperation and zeal to help was expressed," he said. "Every doctor on the island is working for us and there is hardly a man, woman or child of the middle or upper classes who has not asked to do something who is not taking an active part in the work."

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jowers Austin

Whether made that old adage, "You can't have your cake and eat it, too," was likely not thinking about dresses.

Dame Fashion has heard women say that they really didn't enjoy wearing a dress for the first time, but that as she far from her attitude of mind that she is all the time.

Grace J. Austin, ways tempted to take a grain of salt with the bearing. Honestly, now, isn't it just one of the biggest pleasures that material things are able to give—that of starting somewhere in a brand new gown?

Now maybe that first-pleasure-feeling is where the "not eat and have" comes in, for of course that first lovely thrill is gone with the original wearing. But what Dame Fashion was thinking about is that dresses may often give a steady pleasure to the wearer until they are just "done gone."

When we start off on that trip to Europe, with only a few hours' notice that we all dream about—though how in the world does one get a passport that quickly?—we shall surely have to wear a familiar gown, and that is precisely what every travel-direction says: Be comfortable at the starting; familiar clothes, and especially, familiar shoes.

Dame Fashion heard from a wholesaler that men's wash suits and trousers are promising a tremendous late-summer sale all over the country. Talk about the power of politics! Nothing would convince Dame Fashion to disbelieve that because thousands upon thousands of men heard over the radio and read in the press that the only way men could be comfortable in the heat of the Houston convention was to wear tub suits, is the factor that is making those same thousands decide that what is good for Texas is good for hot days in other parts of the country.

And listen to this! These same wholesalers say, "Long hair is being taken into consideration in the design of many of the new hats; the crowns in some instances being deeper in the back to allow for the hair."

What a joy it is to say, "I told you so!"

After diligent study of advance-style pictures, Dame Fashion said, "They may talk about their frills and fullness, but these new dresses look pretty straight to me." And now the wholesale report comes, "The straight line silhouette remains."

The whole secret is, that unless we are exceedingly young and charming, we are a little afraid of looking like the picture of our great-aunt, Jane Maria, in the Civil War picture album, if we adopt too many spreading skirts and frills.

Long Lines Flattering to After-Fifty Figure

Long lines are flattering to the after-fifty figure, says the Woman's Home Companion, especially if it is inclined to be a little heavy. In this frock the criss-cross front panels create this becoming effect in a simple easy manner. The yoke and panels are cut in one with the extra fullness gathered to the yoke. The skirt has inverted box pleats at either side of the front. There are also two similar pleats in the back of the skirt. The design is readily adapted to many types of materials. For early fall navy blue crepe de chine is suggested and for late fall a lightweight tweed.

Moire Coats for Evening

Evening coats of moire are among this season's pleasant surprises. Two attractive ones seen recently were in yellow and palest flesh pink. The yellow one reached only to the knees but the pink coat was full length.

The Loose Handle

Is there anything so annoying as to have an umbrella whose handle comes off each time you raise it? Fill the cavity in the handle with melted glue and then quickly press the stick into it, holding it firmly until it sets.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—Owing to observation of the Hebrew Day of Abstinence today, trading on the wholesale fruit and vegetable markets was very limited. Shippers had been advised by dealers to avoid having shipments arrive today and arrivals were very light.

Official grape grades have been established by the commission of the Department of Agriculture and Markets. Copies of the new grape grades can be obtained on application to the Department of Agriculture and Markets, Albany, N. Y.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Moire Is Revived For Both Evening and Daytime Wear.

New York—Interest in fabrics is rather more keen than usual. One does not have to look back many seasons in memory to recall that crepe de chine or flat crepes in general, summed up the demand in materials. All this has changed. Flat crepes remain in good standing, but by no means are the only ones desirable.

Moire is being revived with a measure of success, not only for evening, when it has become an accustomed sight, but for day dresses as well. The moire suit was launched in Paris last fall, and there were many who saw its possibilities although its development has been slow. The moire dress of sports or more elaborate genre has succeeded in winning approval. This silk, having considerable body, lends itself to tailoring and becomes changeable with other materials, not excepting wool.

A Youthful Dance Frock in Bottle Green Moire With Molded Bodice Draped in Soft Folds About the Waistline. The Large Self Colored Flowers Call Attention to the Extreme Handling of the Hemline. (Sketched for Fairchild.)

Other moire interests are concerned with printed novelties. No material is exempt from becoming a background for decorative work, floral or geometrical in design. The watery surface of moire, as we know it, makes a charming background for certain designs, especially in such colors and motifs as are smart for evening.

Moire is among the fabrics which are a particularly happy choice for the minaret, or robe de style. Lavin, particularly at home in improvising on the period themes, places the fullness rather lower than usual this season. Chanel also has stimulated interest in the minaret.

ELLENVILLE MAN FREED IN SHOOTING CHARGE

A man whose name was given in the New York newspapers today as Peter Abramowitz of Ellenville, who was alleged to have shot Mrs. Nannie Lerner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rock, at 329 East Eighth street, New York City, on Saturday, was discharged Sunday in Essex Market Court for lack of evidence.

The New York newspapers on Sunday gave the name as Max Lerner, 34, and said he forced his way into the fourth story apartment where his estranged wife was living with her parents, and slightly wounded all three. Mrs. Lerner was shot in the chin, her mother had a nose wound and the father's scalp was grazed by a bullet.

Wheeler Won Gun Club Shoot

At the Shoot held on Saturday, September 22, by the Ulster County Gun Club, Ralph Wheeler was the winner of a gold button for highest score of the day. His score was 24 out of a possible 25. The winner of the button holds it until someone either equals or beats the holder of the button. A man winning the button three times keeps it. All members are urged to attend next shoot on Saturday, September 29, to try their luck. All future shoots are to be on a handicap basis.

The high score in each squad was as follows:
Ralph Wheeler, 24.
R. Coles, 22.
A. A. Davis, 19.
L. Longendyke, 19.
Joseph Ross, 17.
Robert Martin, 17.

Big Ocean Going Tanker In River

Arrived Off Kingston Point With Fuel Oil for Newcomb Oil Company Direct From Texas—Largest Tanker to Berth Here.

The Dixiano, an ocean going oil tanker, is discharging a cargo of fuel oil at the tanks of the Newcomb Oil Company at Kingston Point and will leave for New York tonight or early Tuesday morning. She is four hundred feet long and is said to be the largest ocean going tanker to sail up the river as far as Kingston. She had a cargo of 150,000 gallons of oil on board. Part of her cargo was discharged at Newburgh and the remainder at Kingston Point. The big tanker attracted considerable attention from those who saw her.

Ambulance Calls Here. Saturday the city ambulance removed Mrs. Louis Smith from 315 1/2 West street to the Benedictine Hospital and Mrs. Frances Ryan from the City of Kingston Hospital to 16 Gill street. ERROR OF SPEECH.

The Manchester (England) Guardian quotes Professor Daniel Jones as saying in a recent address that there is at present "no such thing as standard English, nor would it be possible for anybody yet, even the Board of Education, to set up a standard which would be universally adopted." Such a statement, manifestly discouraging to the grammatical purists and even to the lovers of simple English of good quality, no doubt has behind it an element of truth. But when the correct thing in English is the simplest and easiest thing, why can it not be taught and be generally observed? This question may be most effectively answered, or illustrated, by reference to an error which is very common, especially in sections of the United States.

A prominent American, a college man, has been quoted as saying: "If he had done this, the trouble would have been ended." An uneducated man habitually guilty of the same error would have said: "If he had done this," etc. Among all solecisms, this perversion of the pluperfect tense of the subjunctive mood is perhaps the most unaccountable. Many errors of speech are the result of a desire for simplicity or of a search for a short cut, but in this case the simple correct form, "if he had done this," is rejected in favor of the more complicated and cumbersome as well as incorrect form, "if he had have done this." Often it is easier to be incorrect than correct but in this instance the correct form is simpler, being therefore more readily remembered, and its persistent rejection is inexplicable.

SCHOOL SPEED LANES.

A live school superintendent, in his annual report, uses a phrase that beats a long argument. He urges "speed lanes" for educational traffic. He wants the regular channels of school work so organized that the teachers will discover the students capable of more rapid progress. He wants to send them on their way in the middle of the road, while the slower ones go their own pace over against the curb, instead of hogging the road and keeping back those who want to get somewhere. Thus every speed group would be better cared for.

Along with this, he would take the "unburied corpses" out of the study courses. Instead of crowding more and more studies into the curriculum, for every new thing introduced he would eliminate an old one. By this process, he thinks, the school system might be cut down to nine or 10 years instead of 12, for most of the pupils. Two or three years are probably as much worth saving in the school period of life as any other—more so, in the opinion of parents eager to see their children reach the self-supporting stage.

Several years ago H. G. Wells announced a "new religion" of his own invention, but it does not appear that the converts, if any, were very numerous. Now he offers the public "a scheme for all human conduct," a book which he says is "the perspective of my world," giving voice to "my directive aims and the whole criteria of all I do." It begins to look as if H. G. Wells rather overstates the importance to the world of H. G. Wells.

The ex-Kaiser is reported to be suffering from "bitter chagrins." Not only are there no more trees for him to cut down, not only is he engaged by the things said about him in Emil Ludwig's book, but he has been "driven into fits of boiling anger" by the announcement that Alexander Zouboff, the disreputable Russian cabaret-dancer-husband of his eccentric elderly sister is going to pay him a visit. Truly the former War Lord of Europe has fallen upon evil days.

It is no surprise to find that one of the new-style muck-raking biographers has shown up Charles Dickens as a top, an egotist and a hypocrite. He may have indulged a taste for irony, and his great success may have turned his head a little, but haters the professional Puritan venery on the London type of authority as he did it is rather too much to be asked to believe that he was of that type himself.

The New Hampshire members of the W. C. T. U. have been jeered at for protesting against root beer and have been asked if they will put tea and coffee on their blacklist next, but it is said to be quite true that root beer can become "wicked" with half a chance. Nature insists on generating a certain amount of alcohol in any watered vegetable substance that is allowed to stand.

The Paris couturiers are reported to have sounded the death knell of "plus fours" and many American men are said to hail their coming emancipation from those excessive baggy "knickers," but how can they be sure that they are set free until an edict comes from London? Women take their tips from Paris, but men's fashions are set by the Prince of Wales.

Now that a speed boat has run ninety-three miles an hour and an airplane is being built in England to fly six miles a minute, automobile "scorchers" are beginning to be troubled with the vain longings of the hopeless rear-enders.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M. D.

UNDERNOURISHED.

It is a strange fact but true that where an individual is greatly undernourished and underweight you can be practically certain that his stomach is very large.

Because this large "low hanging" stomach is slow to drain into intestine. And this slowness is characteristic of the passage of food all the way through the small and large intestine.

And because it is slow this individual is likely to have trouble where the food material remains longest against the lining wall. In the stomach it rests against that portion nearest the small intestine, and so there is often an ulcer at this point.

There is a double curve here. Near the junction of the small and large intestine there is a slowness of movement, and as the appendix is here, chronic or even acute appendicitis is often a result. Another double curve.

And finally near the exit of the food from the body, there is another slowing up due to a double S curve, and trouble is not infrequent here.

Now what have these curves and this slowing up process got to do with trouble at these points?

As you know the food contents as they pass along have digestive juices mixed with them. This makes a chemical mixture, that if delayed too long against any one point, can cause trouble at that point.

Now you don't want your food to race throughout the stomach and intestine because there has to be absorption of this food into the blood, but where the movement is too slow there is gas pressure, pain, and irritation.

This individual has to pick and choose just certain foods that he finds give him the least trouble.

He is usually constipated, which adds to his troubles.

What is to be done in such cases?

As it is all a matter of mechanics, anything that helps drainage or movement is indicated.

Exercise to tighten abdominal wall and get abdominal organs raised upwards is of help.

An abdominal belt is often useful. Lying on right side always, especially before meals.

Stimulating intestinal movements by rocking and bending exercises with knees straight. A well balanced diet with fruit and vegetables predominating. Limit amount of bread and potatoes.

THE KLAN SHOUTS BUT NEVER WHISPERS SAYS EVANS

The following statement is made by Dr. H. W. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan:

For days certain propaganda agencies have filled the newspapers of the United States with articles charging that the Ku Klux Klan was being financed by the Republican party to make a whispering campaign against Governor Alfred E. Smith. The fact that for years we have been maligned by such agencies caused us to ignore these statements. Now, however, since they have been advanced by Governor Smith, the responsible head of the Democratic party, we cannot longer remain silent.

The Klan has never in its history received one dollar for any purpose whatsoever, that did not come from one of the following sources: (1) From its Klactoken or membership donation. (2) From dues. (3) From Klans.

Neither the Republican party nor the Democratic party, neither any individual or corporation has ever directly or indirectly furnished a single dollar to the Klan for any purpose whatsoever. The Klan seeks no political preferment and has no political affiliations.

For years we have been fighting to preserve Americanism against subversion by un-American agencies and ideas. Our fight against Governor Smith is because he represents these agencies and believes in these ideas.

Because of these facts the Klan has for years been publicly fighting Mr. Smith by the widest possible dissemination of the truth. We have shouted, not whispered, and Governor Smith need not now be surprised that millions of the American people know that he is unfitted for the presidency.

His statement that the Ku Klux Klan is receiving money from any source outside the Klan is unqualifiedly wholly false. His attempt to raise the religious issue and to arouse hatred is clearly the desperate expedient of a man who knows he is beaten.

MODENA.

Modena, Sept. 24.—The Paramount Movie Producers presented "Wings," a thrilling war picture, at the Colonial Theatre at New Paltz Wednesday and Thursday evenings of the past week, which was attended and enjoyed by many people from Modena. "Wings" is having its fifty-ninth consecutive weeks showing in New York city, showing the popularity of the picture.

Tent meetings of prayer, conducted by members of the Church of the Nazarene, have been held at New Paltz during September.

A number of local people attended the K. K. K. meeting at Highland Thursday evening.

Miss Leah Hasbrouck entertained several of her friends at a party held at her home Friday evening. Miss Hasbrouck soon leaves Modena for Hackettstown, N. J., where she is attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wager spent Thursday at Newburgh.

Charles Dempsey of Plattekill bought an Essex coach of A. S. Weeks of the Modena Garage.

Miss Dorothy Fowler has returned home after visiting friends at New Jersey and Long Island.

Mrs. Preston Patridge was a visitor at Newburgh Friday of last week.

Mrs. Frank Black and Mrs. W. E. Harcourt attended a meeting of the Eastern Star Lodge at Highland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dushinberry and son, Horace, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wells were among those who attended a surprise party to Mrs. Isaac Sutton at New Hurley one evening recently.

It is reported that William Leetch has sold his place, situated on the New Paltz-Newburgh state road.

New York Pays Schoharie Taxes

County Treasurer John D. Holmes of Schoharie county, has received from the city of New York $44,143.69 for taxes on the Gilboa dam and reservoir for 1926-1927. This check does not cover the taxes for 1925 which must be reassessed, under a ruling of Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley.

New York city contested the payment of the tax and proceedings were instituted in Supreme court to set aside the assessment. Charles J. Tobin of Albany was appointed referee, and last December made his report. Later the matter came to report. Justice Staley, who fixed the assessment at $5,000,000. Assistant Corporation Counsel W. H. Gross of Kingston represented New York and Attorney W. H. Sidney and Walter Bliss represented Gilboa.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—The line of least resistance in today's stock market was again towards higher prices. Reactionary tendencies developed in some of the airplane issues and specialties in the morning trading, but a broad buying movement in the steels, coppers, motors, oils and foods eventually turned the general course of prices upward. Nearly two score issues, including Anaconda Copper, Packard Motors, Sylvania Oil, Union Carbide and U. S. Steel common established new 1928 high records.

Except possibly to hold down the volume of trading, money rates apparently had little influence on the market. Call loans renewed at 7 1/2 per cent with indications that the ruling rate would deviate little from that figure during the rest of the week. With Sterling around the year's low, hope was still held out for further gold imports to relieve the credit situation.

An advance in the price of export copper to 15 1/2 cents a pound was one of the most interesting of the day's trade developments. It stimulated the demand for the red metal shares. U. S. Smelting moving up 4 points to a new top at 57 1/2, while Granby, Kennecott, Magma, American Metals and Howe Sound all broke through their previous 1928 highs.

U. S. Steel returned to its old role as a market leader by climbing more than 3 points to a new high at 161 1/2, one block of $5.00 shares changing hands at 161. General Motors sold down a point to 212 1/2 in the early trading and then rebounded to 215 1/2. Packard moved up 2 points to a new high at 93 1/2 and Hudson was in brisk demand in the early afternoon.

Coty soared 5 1/2 points to 239 1/2. Jewel Tea 8 to 137. Union Carbide 6 1/2 to 186. Murray Corporation 5 1/2 to 93 1/2 and Atlantic Refining 4 1/2 to 194 1/2, all new high records. Wright aeronautical broke 5 1/2 points in the early trading and recovered 6 by early afternoon, and Curtiss Aeroplane regained most of an early loss of 7 1/2 points. Rails were the only important group to take no part in the upward movement.

CULTURE OF PEAR IN FEW SECTIONS

Pear culture has succumbed to unfavorable conditions to a greater extent than perhaps any other fruit. It has been planted over a wide variety of conditions, just as has the other fruit, but it is tender to winter cold, has suffered terribly from the scourges of pear blight, does not stand extremes of soil moisture, and hence its commercial production has been narrowed down to a relatively few sections, writes J. H. Gourley in the Ohio Farmer. True the Kieffer, Garber and La Conte which were derived from the Eastern and pear and the common pear, are grown over a wide range but are certainly not very popular varieties.

Tukey, in a recent book on pears, gives the following as the ten leading commercial sorts: Bartlett, Kieffer, Seckel, Chapp Favorite, Beurre d'Anjou, Beurre Clairgeau, Winter Nellis, Flaming Beauty, Doyenne du Comice, Howell. Ten suited to the home orchard: Bartlett, Seckel, Chapp Favorite, Beurre Bosc, Winter Nellis, Dana Hovey, Tyson, Elizabeth, White Doyenne, Bloodgood.

Ten blight resistant sorts: Kieffer, Garber, La Conte, Sudduth, Seckel, Tyson, Duchess d'Angouleme, Buftum Doyenne Boursack, Beurre Giffard.

The two chief sections of pear culture in the United States are New York state and California. In New York the plantings are more than 50 per cent of Bartlett, followed by Kieffer, Seckel and Chapp Favorite. In California Bartlett is also the leading one followed by Anjou, Bosc, Easter Beurre, Howell and Winter Nellis. Half of the California crop is canned or dried and the remainder reaches the market as fresh fruit.

In pruning the bearing tree Tukey states that "bearing trees in their prime need very little pruning. Cross branches and dead limbs should be removed, and thick trees should be thinned out, as much to help in insect and disease control as any benefit that may be derived in growth."

With the Kieffer, however, a different course must be pursued. Bearing trees are likely to overland and to produce undersized fruit. The customary practice, which really amounts to a thinning operation, is to head back the preceding season's growth about two-thirds each year, commonly termed "stopping." Some growers prefer to cut back into two-year-old wood every other year. Both practices are successful.

We have stated previously that the pear has a place in northern Ohio and that moderate plantings in the lake region would seem to be justified, where proper cultural attention can be given.

Legumes Are Best Cover

Crops for plowing under are commonly used in orchards and vineyards in western New York. Many of the best fruit growers practice clean culture up until about the first of August and then sow a cover crop. Vineyardists who object to having a cover crop in the vineyard at picking time, on account of the discomfort caused to pickers by dew and wet weather, commonly sow cover crops in alternate rows.

The legumes, among which are clover, pears and vetch, make the best cover crops, writes L. H. Woodward in the Rural New Yorker. Other crops are oats, rye, buckwheat, turnips and millet. The choice depends on the soil and the kind of fruit. A rotation may be practiced or a mixture of the above crops used. The cover crop should be sown in midsummer, at the time of the last cultivation, and be plowed under late in the fall or very early in the next spring. The grains—oats, rye or barley—should be sown at the rate of two bushels per acre; clover, 15 pounds per acre; vetch, 20 to 40 pounds per acre.

Good Rule Never to Use Sod for Strawberries

It is a good rule never to use an old sod for strawberries because of the damage that is likely to occur from white grubs and wire worms. Land that has been in potatoes, sweet corn, or other cultivated crop is best from this standpoint. When manure is used just before setting the plants there is danger of introducing weed seeds or other previous manuring or a green manure with fertilizer is best. Two hundred fifty to three hundred pounds of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia, and five hundred pounds of superphosphate (acid phosphate) would be a moderate application for strawberries.

Grafting Grapevines

Grapevines may be grafted through the ordinary cleft method that is usually employed in top-working apples. The union is made just below the soil level, and while the scions are firmly tied in place no wax is used to cover the jointed parts, they being protected by a mound of loose earth that should extend up to the top buds of the scions. Vines ten years of age can be successfully cleft-grafted to the desired varieties.

Letters Carried News Before Printed Page

Letters were the real forerunners of the newspaper. For many years, probably thousands in fact, relatives and friends interlarded their written communications with choice bits of gossip and news but about the end of the "Dark Ages" a special sheet containing the news began to find favor as an addition to regular epistles and by the sixteenth century exclusive news letters were being written, says an article in the Detroit News. One copy of this kind of a letter was displayed at the historical section of the international press exhibition in Cologne. It was from London, dated March 18, 1570, and contained a report of a fight with pirates. The business house of Fugger in Frankfurt-on-the-Main built up quite a large clientele by supplying this kind of news service and the system developed to such an extent that finally special offices, advantageously situated, began to collect the news for lists of regular subscribers. These letters were sent out by post. By this means the dissemination of news had reached a high state of perfection, methods of communication considered, when printing was simplified by Gutenberg and the way for the present vast institutions in this service was made easy.

Somewhat Odd Cause for Ancestral Pride

Mrs. B. was proud to think that old home place had stayed in the family so many generations. The buildings had all been changed and the original log house now sheltered the pigs, while the B.'s lived in a very modern house. One afternoon a number of friends had gathered at the B.'s. Some one remarked about the number of farms that were being sold and the old neighbors moving to town. Now Mrs. B. was proud of her husband and his people and had no intention of starting something when she exclaimed: "Oh! we just couldn't sell this place—it has been in the B. family since this was prairie land. Why, six generations of the B.'s were born right out here in the pignen!"

A Beggar Who Chose

A tramp knocked at the front door of a house just beyond the eastern city line recently. "Ma'm, I'm awful hungry," he said. The resident, a woman of great patience and a kind heart, told him if he would go to the side door she would help him. The tramp went to the side door and knocking, said: "Ma'm, I'm awful hungry; could I have something to eat?" The housewife asked the man to have patience and she would get him something. Hungry, his entire being denoting a long fast, the tramp sat down on the doorstep and waited. Presently the resident appeared with a plate of large, appetizing sandwiches.

What Brand?

In the club a man was holding the attention of a small knot of men by announcing the fact that he could tell any brand of spirit by just tasting it. Several glasses of different spirits were put before him, and each time he gave the correct answer. Then suddenly a youthful member offered him a glass containing a white liquid and asked him to taste it. "Good heavens, you idiot!" shrieked the other, after the first sip. "That's gasoline!"

UPTON SETTLES FOR AUTOMOBILE DAMAGES

Saturday evening a Nash car driven by Howard Upton of the town of Marlborough and a Ford car of Wilber VanTassel of Esopus were in collision a short distance south of Port Even. The Upton car was traveling North on its way to Albany. Mrs. VanTassel was cut by glass.

Following the collision Upton was arrested by State Trooper Lockhart of Highland who was summoned. On being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Louis Goodrich at Esopus on a charge of reckless driving, a fine of $15 was imposed and paid. Damages in the sum of $32 were also paid to VanTassel for damages to his car which was towed to the Avery garage.

A Cadillac car which was also struck by the Upton car was damaged about the fender and a settlement for $12 was made. It was stated that Upton was driving the car at the time of the collision. In the car with Upton were another man and a young woman who were uninjured.

13 Year Old Boy Pilots Airplane

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 24 (P).—Piloting an airplane is something more than a boyhood dream for 13-year-old Marvin Horstmann. Marvin is the youngest student flier at the airport here.

The boy's flying instruction has progressed to the point where his teachers turn the controls of the ship over to him at the moment of the take-off. In the air, according to Victor A. Rickard, one of his instructors and manager of the airport, the boy flies the ship like a veteran, but he has yet to learn that most vital bit of the flier's art—the landing.

"I've got to shoot a few landings yet and then I'm ready to solo," he explained recently. The jargon of the hangar rolls easily from his tongue and he talks of "props," "slipstream," "camber" and "angle of incidence" with the confidence of long familiarity.

Marvin lists among his aeronautical achievements the ability to service and repair many of the planes stationed at or visiting the port. He is undismayed by a balky water-cooled engine of the common commercial type, but explains that he has yet "to learn something about these air-cooled jobs." The boy assumed some of his duties when the airport was opened more than a year ago, taking as his only pay the privilege of working about the ships with the opportunity for an occasional trip aloft. The licensed pilots at the port consider Marvin's services of value equal to flying lessons given him in their spare time, they say.

Some difficulty has been encountered in finding a plane whose controls and cockpit would fit the small stature of the boy. With some padding, the forward cockpit of one of the smaller commercial type ships at the port has been found to accommodate Marvin, but when he "gives her the gun" and roars down the runway for a take-off, the upper part of his head is barely visible above the cutaway cowling of the fuselage. Marvin, the port pilots say, has been duly initiated into the fraternity of seasoned aviators,—he has found, as have the best aviators, that the atmosphere can become bumpy enough to make him "air sick." Interviewed on this subject, Marvin qualified the statement by saying that on the occasion of his illness, "the air was so bumpy the wind came on the hangar was blowing straight up and down."

Nice Men!

Mary had written to her mother that she had been dating a cross country man since coming to college. She was surprised to receive the following note from her parent: "Paw and I don't object to you running around with a country man, Mary, for your grandfather and grandmother were both farmers. We just can't understand why you don't pick out a congenial fellow instead of a cross one."

Macedonian Youths Now Procure Brides On Easy Payment System

Uskub, Serbian Macedonia, Sept. 24 (P).—Wives are now bought on the installment plan, or hire-purchase system, in Macedonia.

The preponderance of males has attached a high value to the girls of this former Turkish province.

Payment is made on the basis of 25 per cent on the day of the engagement, 25 per cent on the day of the wedding, and the remainder in equal annual installments, spread over a number of years.

Cases are reported where poor laborers have become bandits in order to get the cash necessary to buy a bride. Once successful, they would throw away their shooting outfit and resume their peaceful life. Many peasants have in this way lost their lives, the police records show. The gendarmerie has made a task of cleaning the whole country of bandits and the number of these killed during encounters with the gendarmerie runs into several hundreds.

The peasant of Macedonia tells all his life in order to buy a wife. To be single in Macedonia is a confession of one's inability to win a woman's heart, and the peasant here makes it a question of pride to court a girl and make her his wife. The bridegroom pays the family of the girl a certain sum in gold. The amount varies between 10 to 100 Turkish pounds, according to the physical attractions and the weight of the would-be-bride.

In the time of the sultans, marriage was concluded in cash. Times are now hard for Macedonia where the drought of recent years has blighted the crops and added to the general impoverishment of the country. The depreciation of the dinar and other adverse economic factors have resulted in a glut in the market of brides. Easy payments are therefore accepted, instead of strict cash, which was formerly the time-honored practice.

These marriages are now always legal, and although monogamy is the law of Yugoslavia an exception is made in favor of the Muslim subjects of the triple kingdom. These, however, must go through a form of marriage in order that the union should be, in the eyes of the government, legally consummated.

ZENA.
Zena, Sept. 24.—The Ladies' League of the Zena Reformed Church held their monthly meeting at the church hall Friday afternoon, September 21, with a goodly number present. The meeting was opened by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the church. The report of the August fair and supper was read, and although the weather was not as pleasant as other years there was a fair patronage and the sum of $150 was added to the treasury.

After the business meeting Mrs. Hoffman one of our members presented material and blocks all cut for a beautiful quilt, the gift of Mrs. William Stewart of 25 Lundy street, Kingston, to whom all the ladies express their sincere thanks and appreciation. The ladies also extend their thanks to Mr. Van Berg of the Advance restaurant, Kingston, for so kindly presenting the large piece of beef for the supper. With the serving of the afternoon refreshments were served by Mrs. Todd who acted as hostess.

Well Known Railway Conductor Tells of Merits of Nu-Erb

Declares It Gave Him Relief From Long Standing Ailments.

Hundreds of railway men know Mr. D. A. Dunham, 1002 McHenry street, Elmira, N. Y., the Pennsylvania Railway conductor, who has a remarkable record of 32 years' service with that company.

"My stomach had been giving me a lot of trouble with gas and indigestion after nearly every meal," said Mr. Dunham. "I grew very nervous, lost my appetite, couldn't sleep nights and rheumatism set in my arms and muscles."

Not of the railway men had been Nu-Erb and as I had heard such good reports about it I decided to give it a trial. I have been convinced that it is a medicine of most unusual merit. It not only gave prompt relief to my organic disorders, but also quieted my nerves so that I now sleep well at night, have a good appetite and overcame the rheumatic condition that was getting to hold on me. I gladly endorse this grand medicine."

Why not let this amazing Nu-Erb help you back to health and strength. Its pure herbal juices correct digestive disorders, strengthen the kidneys, quiet the nerves, regulate the liver and drives poisons from the system which cause rheumatism and Fifty Miles a Day in the Eighteenth Century.

This old "Deadwood Dick" coach was the last word in transportation in its day. Heavy baggage was carried on pack horses. Time table read "Will arrive Wednesday or Thursday" instead of "1:45 P. M."

Nowadays 50 miles an HOUR isn't considered "speed." But even the legal pace constitutes a risk in today's traffic. Get sufficient insurance and get it from a firm that has had seven years of experience counselling Kingstonsians on insurance problems.

DAIRY FACTS

DAIRY COWS ARE ROUGHAGE EATERS

Certain writers on economic problems state that in the future farm animals must more and more depend on roughage and the by-products of trade that are not suitable for human food. They say that this necessity will arise to supply food for the rapidly increasing numbers in the world's population. Whether this condition ever does come or not, we do know that the grain is the expensive part of the cow's ration, and the more nearly roughage can be made to supply the feed, the cheaper will milk and milk products be produced, writes W. H. Woodley, extension dairyman, college of agriculture, University of Arkansas. Grains, high in protein content, are especially expensive.

The farmer is fortunate in that he can raise a roughage that is high in protein and supply this much needed milk producing element in hay cheaper than he can buy it in grain. There is probably no section where some kind of legume hay cannot be raised. An acre of land that will produce two tons of soy bean hay yields three times the digestible protein that the same acre will produce in corn (ears and stover) and five times more than prairie or other grass hays can be raised. It yields about the same amount of total digestible nutrients as the acre of corn, and twice the amount in prairie or grass hay. So to the cow it is both hay and grain.

The milk cow with her four stomachs and her ability to consume about five times as much feed as the horse, is essentially a roughage animal, and can only do her best work, and do it most economically when she is supplied with all the roughage such as mentioned above, that she will consume.

A farmer can buy good grain in the market and the kind that he wants, but even if it was as economic to do so, he can seldom find buy of the quality and kind that it is best to feed, so in self-defense he must raise it.

Homemade Fly Spray Is Beneficial in Summer

Most owners of small herds will prefer to buy a prepared fly spray, but others prefer to mix their own. The following ingredients can be purchased at any good drug store and have been used successfully by the Iowa experiment station:

Coal-tar dip, 4½ quarts; fish oil, 4½ quarts; coal oil, 3 quarts; whale oil, 3 quarts; oil of tar, 1½ quarts; laundry soap, 3 bars.

In preparing the spray, the three bars of soap should be dissolved in warm water. Then the other ingredients can be added separately and enough water added to bring the total amount up to thirty gallons.

This spray, like others, is most effective for a few hours after using. It has a pronounced odor which aids it as a fly repellent, but it does not seem to affect the milk unless some drops in the udders. The oil in the spray collects dirt but most of this will wash out when the cows are out in the rain.

Lack of Proper Feeding Accountable for Losses

There is plenty of good authority for the statement that one-third of our dairy cows are unprofitable, one-third just about break even and the remaining third only are profitable. The situation is accountable in two ways. First, there is lack of proper feeding. A dairy cow must have a properly balanced ration in order to do her best. Second, there are dairy cows whose breeding is such that they can never be made into profitable producers, no matter how they are fed. Just a glance at some cows will tell any person that they will never be suitable for profitable dairy production, but there are large numbers of the in-between kind, that can only be sold after they have been tested and sold properly.

Cut Dairy Heifer Cost by Reducing Protein

That tremendous saving in the cost of raising dairy heifers can be made by reducing the amount of protein in the ration heretofore considered the minimum amount necessary for normal growth, has been shown by 12 months of investigation at the Missouri College of Agriculture. Former standards for the minimum amount of protein are really 20 to 60 per cent too high, according to the tests. As protein is the most expensive part of the ration and is usually the part that cannot be purchased, a tremendous saving can be made on the $400,000,000 required annually to maintain the present cow population.

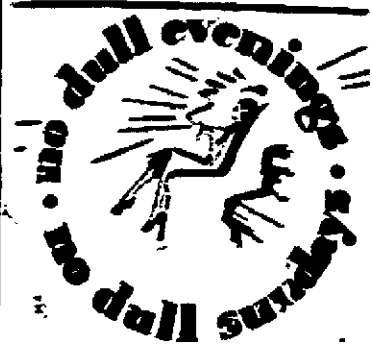

Improvement Material

Assuredly, pure-bred bulls must come from an ancestry that has proved to be stronger in production on the grade herds into which they are going. The fact that there were more grade herds in the Iowa cow-testing herd than there were pure-bred herds does not prove that farmers must come to look to pure breeds for herd improvement material, however. In the first place, the highest producing pure-bred herds are seldom put to test in cow-testing associations.

A Curse of Fertility

The American herd in South America, which covers more than 2,000,000 square miles, has a population of less than one person per square mile. The reason is too much fertility. The cow is covered with an almost impen-

69th Year Begins At St. Stephen's

Seaside College: Start a Part of Columbia University. Many interesting addresses by Dr. Bell—One Kingston Student Enrolled.
Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Yesterday morning, St. Stephen's College at this place opened its sixtieth year and the first year of its existence as a college of Columbia University. On July 1 last this integration came into effect. The college, which is under the general patronage of the Episcopal Church, assumed its place in the Columbia University system, on a parity with Columbia College and Barnard College in the city of New York, as a college of arts, letters and sciences, granting the Columbia degree. This is the first instance of a city university establishing a constituent college definitely in the country. St. Stephen's is limited to 250 men and the university uses it for specialized individual work with exceptionally capable undergraduates.

Among the new students is Harold F. Davis, son of W. Frank Davis of 34 East St. James street, Kingston, N. Y. The session was opened with Dr. Bernard J. Bell, warden of the college, delivering an address on "The Larger Agnosticism." He said in part: "During the last century science discovered for us that in respect to our bodies we were animals. We have dwelt upon this and taught it with a marvelous forgetfulness that because we were beasts it did not necessarily follow that we were nothing from babyhood through the university, that it is animal, and fail to dwell upon the parts of human living that are more than animal. The generation is apt to believe only what it has been taught."

"For that reason our generation has come to doubt the worthwhileness of human endeavor and to be filled with a dangerous and inhuman cynicism. That cynicism cannot be eradicated by any attempted revival of sentimental nonsense about the present worth of the human race. Man is no God. He is a creature in struggle from beguilement to Godliness. He is not to be trusted, though he is to be loved. It is not in him as he is that his meaning lies, but rather that in which he may become, that toward which he aspires."

"Aristotle has said that the true meaning of anything lies in its end, rather than in its beginning. The world has been too much concerned of late with speculating about man's origin. For the restoration of mental health it is necessary that the world begin to think again about man's destiny. Only so can a sense of human dignity be recovered. It is the business of a university to direct man's attention toward those studies which are concerned not merely with whence he is but with whither he goes."

Dr. Butler's Message
President Nicholas Murray Butler of the university greeted the students with the following message: "The burden that rests upon our American institutions of higher education was never so heavy as today. Trained intelligence, broad vision and sturdy character are more than ever our greatest national need. The mob spirit and what I call conformitarianism are abroad in the land, crushing out independent judgment and action and alienating courage. St. Stephen's College has notable parts to play in the new renaissance of American faith and true Christian citizenship which I am sure is coming."

BLIND MAN WRITES STORIES ON TYPEWRITER

Stormy Creek, N. Y., Sept. 24 (P).—George P. Harrington, 24, of this place, has been blind since he was seven years old, but has not allowed his handicap to interfere with his ambition to be an author. He learned to use a typewriter depending solely on the sense of touch and now can write 30 or 40 words a minute. He confines his writing to short stories and poems, several of which have been published in magazines. Harrington lost his eyesight when he pursued some boys who had destroyed a bird's nest. Two of the boys threw sand in his eyes and all efforts to restore his sight proved futile.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly. Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mrs. Ellen White of 21 Sanger St., New Hartford, N. Y., writes: "For years I suffered from indigestion. I got no relief from anything until I took Tanlac. After my fourth bottle, I feel like a new person and have a fine appetite."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

It is understood that there will be no canvass for funds but that anyone may contribute to the cause by sending same to Mrs. Evans Vedder, the local treasurer of the Red Cross. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boehler of Katsbach are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter at the Beers Sanitarium on Friday. The cabriolet, Chevrolet of Mr. Moose of Blue Mountain was destroyed by fire recently. The car was insured with Harold Kamp of Elm street.

Miss Amy Longendyke of Ulster avenue and Miss Evelyn Longendyke of Maiden avenue are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Longendyke and family at Schenectady. Otto Benz of Catskill was arrested by the State Troopers charged with reckless driving. On Thursday evening Judge Bennett fined Benz $10 and he was discharged. The local Chamber of Commerce is going forward with plans of bringing a factory to this place. It is hoped that the concern will employ a large number.

Miss Jeanette Sisco of Glasco was operated upon at the Beers Sanitarium on Friday morning by Drs. Chandler and Gifford. The Misses Dorothy and Beatrice Keefe of Shulls Corners have entered the New Paltz Normal and Riverside Hospital at Yonkers respectively.

Trooper Kline on Thursday afternoon arrested A. Amell of Kingston charged with driving a truck with the wrong license plates. A fine of $20 was paid and he was discharged. James Sweeney of Post street, this village, has secured a position with the Metropolitan Life Insurance in New York city.

Miss Dorothy Yahnke of Livingston street has resumed her studies at St. Lawrence University at Canton, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Snyder and son of West Bridge street and Miss Jennie Wood of Poughkeepsie are enjoying a motor trip in Canada and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sylvain of Washington avenue and the Misses Emma and Belle Myer of Market street are motoring in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharkey of New York city are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Fuller on Finger street. Mrs. D. Smart of Yonkers, N. Y., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell, on Second street.

A collision of automobiles occurred on Market street in front of the residence of James T. Maxwell on Friday evening. A Dodge sedan coming from Lafayette street and a Buick coupe coming up Market street were in the crash. John A. Bordell of Long Island City operated the Dodge and Joseph Stout of Kingston drove the Buick. Both cars were somewhat damaged.

The front of the T. B. Cornwall House on the south side is draped in mourning in the memory of the late John S. McCarthy, who has been a member of that body for a number of years.

Henry Roland, the human fly, performed climbing stunts in this village on Saturday afternoon and evening. The I. O. O. F. building on Main street was the scene of attraction with a chair balancing act on the cornice top.

The Misses Jessie Bovee and Eleanor Gueren, both of New Paltz Normal School, spent the past week end at their homes here.

The cafeteria opened in the high school today, the purpose being to furnish pupils with hot dishes who bring their lunch. The work will be under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Bender of the home economics department.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Glenford Genthner of Partition street at the City of Kingston Hospital Saturday morning.

The Rev. Paul Newkirk of this place officiated at the funeral of the late Elizabeth Lewis at Pine Grove Saturday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Emerick, daughter of Dr. Luther Emerick of Partition street, has resumed her studies at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

Mrs. H. J. Adams and Mrs. Charles R. Harry of Stockton, Cal., are the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Rowe at Trinity rectory on Barclay Heights.

Jacob Bruckner of New York city is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Diehlman on Market street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Carkner of Albany, N. Y., called on Mrs. Raymond Benton of Elm street.

The Big Brothers' class of the M. E. Church held their annual picnic at Zena on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Albert Whitaker of First street is caring for Mrs. Samuel Teasel and daughter of Quarryville.

Frank McCabe of Bayonne, N. J., is spending some time here visiting relatives and friends.

YOUNG MOSLEY WILL NOT REJECT TITLE

London, Sept. 24 (P).—Young Oswald Mosley, whose father, Sir Oswald Mosley, died Friday, is not going to reject the title despite his Socialistic belief, says the Evening Star in a dispatch from Nice whence Mosley is returning to England. "I shall retain the title," the dispatch quotes him as saying. "It is not worth giving up. Titles count for nothing nowadays."

Young Mosley said that he would continue his work as Labor member of Parliament.

Post Office - City Wins The Industrial Pennant

The Post Office-City combination, winners of the second half of the Industrial League, won the honors of the circuit by defeating the U. & D. Schillings aggregation, victors of the first half, 5-3 at the Athletic Field Saturday afternoon.

A large turnout witnessed the game played on the day that was most ideal for a baseball contest. They saw "Waco" Peters supported in admirable fashion by his teammates of the victorious Post Office-City. Peters gave the U. & D. Schillings six hits. Waco Black, who had considerable difficulty in locating the plate was touched by the Post Office-City for eight hits and allowed seven walks. He passed three men in succession during the seventh inning with two down and a runner on base.

The U. & D. Schillings were the first to score, making two runs in the third. Long, the first man up went out when "Fritz" Bruhn stopped a hot liner from his bat and made a neat throw to first. Kennedy put one in right field. Alward stuck out but Peters could get nothing over the plate but four balls when Dulin stepped up for his turn at bat. Hornbeck cracked it and Kennedy and Dulin scored. A relay by Schwab to Davitt to Johnston caught Hornbeck when he endeavored to make third. In the fourth session the Post Office-City tied the score. Robinson started the inning with a two base hit and Schwab followed with a drive to center that got past Dulin allowing Robinson to score and placing Schwab on third. Lynch met one of Black's slants for a drive over second base that scored Schwab. Lynch tried to reach second but was caught by Jackie Long who received the horrid slide from Smedes.

Score Two More In Sixth. The sixth saw Black in a bad way. A double play helped him out to some extent but his opponents were able to score two more runs in the session. Hornbeck missed a grounder from the bat of Robinson, and the latter reached second when the railroad made a wild throw to first. Schwab came through with his second hit of the game and Robinson scored. Lynch hit to Long who tried to get Schwab going to second but the ball hit the runner and all were safe. Peters hit a neat bunt which fooled Connolly and Black and the bases were filled. "Fritz" Bruhn was given a walk and Schwab was forced home. Dulin made a fine throw to the plate after catching Johnson's fly, and caught Lynch who tried to make home. Wheeler was given a pass that again loaded the sacks but "Lutz" Brown fanned for the third out. The U. & D. Schillings got one run in the seventh after three hits in a row. After Smedes went out on a neat throw to first, Connolly singled to right. He aimed to score when Black hit to left, but was caught at the plate when Davitt relayed Schwab's toss to Robinson, the catcher. Black reached third on the play. Black scored on Wheeler's blow to right field. Wheeler reached second but was left stranded when Davitt threw out Long.

In the last half of the seventh the Post Office-City got the final run of the game. Davitt singled to left field and reached second on Weeks's error. Hobins hit directly to Hornbeck and Davitt was almost doubled on the play. He went to third while Schwab was being thrown out on a grounder to Long. Lynch got a walk and Peters the next man up was favored with a free pass to first. "Fritz" Bruhn was the third man to be passed and Davitt was forced home. Johnson made the final out of the inning. Dulin was the only U. & D. Schilling man to get on base in the last two sessions. He reached first when he scratched a hit through Johnson in the eighth.

Tagging Major League Bases

By Herbert W. Barker. Associated Press Sports Writer. With the wire and pennant victory in full view, baseball's thoroughbred, responding gamely to whip and spur, gallop down the major league home stretch in a driving slash so hot and furious that even at this late stage the naked eye can not, with certainty, discern the ultimate winners.

Of the field of 16 that started so confidently in the spring, only four real contenders, two in each league, remain. The rest are also runs, more or less content to finish this race without undue effort and wait for the next to roll around.

With only a week to go the pennant struggle in each league has developed into a duel, rather than a general, free-for-all engagement. In the National, the fight lies between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants with the Chicago Cubs still mathematical contenders, if nothing else. Only a game separates the Cardinals, in first place, from the runner-up Giants while the Cubs trail New York by three and a half games.

Two games ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics, their sole rivals, the New York Yankees are odds-on favorites to win their third American League pennant in a row, but overlooking choices have been beaten before and Connie Mack's A's are not yet completely out of the running.

Although all of these contenders were in action yesterday there was no change in their relative positions. The Giants had the closest escape. They were carried to 14 innings before they could nose out the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, in one of the finest games of the season at the Polo Grounds. Joe Genewich, who came to the Giants from Boston with the reputation of being an in-and-outer, was very much "in" yesterday. He held the Reds to five hits during the entire game, and strangely enough, was lucky to win. The Reds entered the first half of the ninth with the score tied at one-all. Wally Pipp tied off with a triple and it appeared that nothing could prevent the big first baseman from scoring. But Jimmy Walsh came in to score on Allen's fly to center field. The game finally was won on Jackson's line single in the 14th, which scored Lindstrom, who had singled. The Cardinals met this Giant victory with one of their own over Brooklyn, 7 to 1. Jess Haines held the Robins to three hits and the game really was decided as early as the third inning when Jim Bottomley sailed his 30th home run of the season over the right field wall with two men on base. That blow tied "Sunny Jim" with Hack Wilson of Chicago for the league's home run leadership, and gave the Cards a 5 to 0 lead.

The Yanks and Athletics kept step in the American League, the champions defeating Cleveland, 10 to 0, while the A's were defeating the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 7. Waite Hoyt pitched his 20th victory of the year for the Yankees, giving the Indians only four hits. The Yanks, on the other hand, pounded Joe Shaute for 11, two of which went to the well-known George Herman Ruth, who has been in a terrible slump for a week. Ruth pulled up lame after running out a single in the eighth inning and had to retire.

A four-run rally in the ninth gave the A's their victory over the Browns, three of them riding home on a home run by Jimmy Dykes. Hoins Maunsh took advantage of some ineffective pitching by George Walberg and Eddie Rommel to get four hits. The Chicago White Sox moved up to a tie for fourth place with Washington by turning back the Senators in the first game of the series, 5 to 3. Ted Lyons pitched effectively while Marberry was being slashed for 11 hits that came when the Sox wanted runs and got them.

At Detroit, Phil Page, Eastern League recruit, won his second major league victory in as many starts when the Tigers beat Boston 4 to 1. Page allowed seven hits, four of which went to Buddy Hays. Six double plays and seven errors showed in the box score.

All-Stars Win Over Pan-Ams In 12 Innings

Red Culliton Defeats Carpenter in Interesting Pitchers' Battle—Bill Schwab Leads in Hitting—Pan-Ams Play Errorless Ball.

The Kingston All-Stars defeated the Pan-Ams Sunday at the Sanger, the road diamond, by the score of 5 to 3 and captured the three-game series. The deciding game was not settled until after twelve innings were played.

Bud Culliton, performing for the first time this season on a local diamond, was the winning pitcher allowing ten hits. Carpenter for the losers allowed 15.

Bill Schwab led the hitters with three safeties. Culliton and Carpenter hit two apiece.

Carpenter was given perfect support throughout the entire contest. The All-Stars were charged with three errors.

With the score standing two all at the end of the eleventh the All-Stars came to bat and made three runs. In their half of the twelfth the Pan-Ams scored one run.

The winners made two runs in the second and kept in the lead until the sixth when the Pan-Ams tied the score. The score was then deadlocked until the twelfth.

Rochester Wins International

(By The Associated Press.) The International League pennant moves back to Rochester after an absence of seventeen years, and it moves back largely because of four championship games which never will be played. The determined Red Wings swept both ends of a double header from the Royals at Montreal yesterday as the Veteran Herman Bell performed an iron-man stint, and so finished their campaign one point ahead of the Buffalo Bisons by .545 to .548, the lowest percentage the one-two teams ever held in any league governed by organized baseball.

This slender margin existed because Billy Southworth's club played four games fewer than Buffalo, winning two fewer but losing two fewer for a virtual tie in games. The condition was brought about by the permanent postponement, in August, of two Rochester-Baltimore double headers. The Red Wings would have had to win three of these four games to defeat the Bisons, had the complete Rochester schedule been played. Derby Bill Clymer was anxious for two in a row at Buffalo and the eighth pennant of his career, but he long ago learned about losing a close one. In his first managerial year, piloting Louisville through the first season of the present American Association back in 1902, Bill brought the Colonels up to the last day of the season trailing Indianapolis by a point.

The astute young manager of the Louisville devised a neat plan to snatch the pennant from the Indians. He had many postponements with Minneapolis. Why not close with three? Indeed! Three it was and three he won. The Colonels marched proudly into their hotel at dusk, followed a few moments later by the Indianapolis players, who had closed their season at St. Paul and were using the same hotel.

"What did you fellows do today?" Clymer asked blandly. He swooned when the Indians chanted in unison, "We won the pennant!" Clymer led the Bisons to a final triumph over the Toronto Maple Leafs before 23,000 excited fans at Buffalo yesterday, but under the circumstances it was not enough. Both Toronto and Montreal softened after it became impossible for them to win, and the two contenders ran riot in the closing series, Rochester in particular.

All season long the International League had a race which seemed as if it might finally hinge upon a single base hit, and in the last analysis it did. The Associated Press repeatedly has called attention to the great advantage Rochester enjoyed in playing four games fewer than one of its chief rivals, and those four games today stand as the chief reason the Red Wings won.

Vic Hanson May Coach Syracuse

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—Vic Hanson's plans are forming a huge question mark in the minds of sport lovers at Syracuse University. As the football season draws near, and the identity of the first eleven that will carry the orange colors into battle becomes clearer, those at Shore Acres Camp, where the varsity training ground is located, are turning this question about in their minds more than ever.

Hanson, who is assistant to Head Coach Lew Andrews, returned to his duties when the first call for gridiron recruits was sent out. He has been on the field daily, directing, instructing, enlightening, and his thoughts have appeared so concentrated on football that there are many who wonder whether he will return to baseball next year.

Vic is the property of the New York Yankees, but, during the baseball season now nearing its close, was farmed out, first, to the Waterbury team in the Eastern League, and later, to the Syracuse Stars, in the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Hanson has declined to comment on his plans, but there are some who declare his name will be found on the "voluntarily retired" list of the Yankees next year. Veteran baseball players have urged him to remain another year in his present status, as a further aid in his climb to the majors.

At present, Hanson is coaching football, but there is another game in which he excels—basketball—and it is expected that with the fall training season completed and football out of the way, he will devote his time to basketball. It is believed that Hanson is slated for the position of head coach when Andrews is made athletic director of the university, and between the gridiron and the court, some insist, he will find little or no time for baseball.

INDIANAPOLIS WINS IN THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION. Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP).—The "Indian sign" is back on the American Association pennant once again. After an 11-year chase, Bruno Betzel and his tribe of Indians brought the flag back to Indianapolis as the season ended yesterday by a dramatic 1 to 0 victory over Toledo, while its only rival, Minneapolis, sank two and a half games from the top by dropping its last game to Milwaukee, 4 to 3.

By becoming champions, Indianapolis will represent the American Association in the "little world series" against Rochester, champion of the International League. The series will be decided in the best five out of nine fashion, starting at Rochester next Wednesday. Milwaukee finished in third place, Indianapolis won 29 games and lost 63 for a percentage of .592.

BASEBALL'S BIG SIX ARE GOLIATHS

Ruth, Fothergill, Heilman, Hogan, Buckeye, Elliott.

Lump the six of them together and they will weigh 1,250 pounds. They are the Goliaths of the diamond, the fat boys of baseball.

First comes Babe Ruth whose 210 pounds are strong cut over 6 feet, 2 inches of height. When you see Babe waddle out to his position you wonder how he manages to field and run the bases. The secret lies in his legs, which are modeled after those of a greyhound. Most of Ruth's bulk is concentrated above the belt; it is in his arms and shoulders which provide the propelling power for his home runs. The Babe's pudgy face heightens the impression that he is fat, but in reality he is the fastest big man in baseball.

Roy Fothergill isn't big; he's immense. "Fatty" is his nickname and he deserves it. Every March Fothergill is faced with the problem of losing 30 pounds. Usually he goes to Hot Springs, Ark., bolls off about 15 pounds, and depends on spring training to take off the rest of his excess weight. Despite his fatness, Fothergill is a terrific hitter. His normal weight is about 200 pounds.

When Shanty Hogan reported to the New York Giants after he had been obtained in the trade which sent Rogers Hornsby to Boston, they couldn't find a belt big enough for him. McGraw finally handed Hogan a trunk strap and told him to make a belt out of it. Hogan is one of the heaviest men who ever donned a mask and mitt. His 250 pounds make it necessary for him to hit a triple if he wants to get to second base.

But the mammoth of them all is Garland Buckeye, the pitcher who was released by the Giants to Toledo of the American association the other day. Buckeye did a "Sam Vick." In other words, he ate himself out of the major leagues. Sam Vick was the first ball player to do that and when he passed all he left in the big leagues was a handy phrase which has been used ever since. Buckeye weighs 235 pounds.

Like Ruth, Harry Heilman of the Detroit Tigers is over the 200-pound mark, but it is chiefly muscle and bone. Heilman, who has seen many baseball summers dawn and die, is one of the most dangerous of the long line of dangerous hitters that have worked for the Tigers. His 205 pounds send many a ball rattling against the fence.

Brooklyn contributes Jumbo Elliott, who is 200 pounds of good pitching material. Last year he was one of the most effective men on Wilbert Robinson's high-powered staff.

Gene Sarazen Gives Tip to British Golf Stars

While eminent American professional golfers were in England in quest of the open championship—which, as all know, Walter Hagen won—some of the most serious critics of golf on the other side went to school; that is to say, they went to the shore hotel at Sandwich where the Americans were staying and sat at the feet of the masters of the game.

One of these American masters stated that he does not know how much the English learned, but that certainly they got a lot of information.

Gene Sarazen made a tremendous hit with a very sage remark, which spread throughout England in the short time that elapsed between the close of the open and the sailing of the Yankee mercenaries for home.

"The difference between English and American golf," said Sarazen, "is this: When a player comes to the front in your country the first question you ask is 'How far can he drive?' The first thing we want to know about a new American star is 'What kind of a putter is he?'"

That was all Gene said, but evidently he had said all that was necessary. The English decided, by jove, that he had hit the nail on the head, and it would not be at all surprising if the long game as a compelling subject of conversation and practical demonstration in England gave way to the delicate art of putting.

Navy Will Be Contenders for National Honors

"Navy Bill" Ingram Backs Navy With Xaver House Football Week Team—Almost a Headed Husky Yanks on the Franks Field.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 24 (AP).—Navy, breeder of mighty football teams, never will have another weak team. The Middles from the Naval Academy on the shores of Chesapeake Bay will lose games to strong eleven, but every year in the future they will be contenders for the national championship—feared by every rival.

In that concise fashion, mingled with words, "Navy Bill" Ingram, product of Uncle Sam's School of the Sea and leader of her football duties, summed up Navy's position in the realm of the flying pigskin ball for today and tomorrow. Around him almost a hundred husky youths who must bear out his prediction passed, ran and kicked in the bright sunlight. At his elbow stood Bill's brother, Jonas, athletic director at the academy, watching and nodding assent.

"Fifty of the men on this field are sophomores, making their first bid for varsity berths," said Bill. "As players they drilled under varsity coaches and with the varsity. They know the Navy system and I know them. Every year I will have that many or more men of known ability coming up to the varsity squad. Never again will Navy have a team of seniors to be wrecked by graduation."

Ever since the Ingram brothers, famous players in their day, took over Navy's football leadership in 1926 and saw graduated that year 16 of the 21 men who played that sensational 21-21 tie with Army in Chicago, they have been developing a system of inexhaustible reserve.

"We build our own players," Bill continued. "We get none of the choice prep school material that comes to other colleges. Ninety per cent of the men come from small high schools. Half of them never before had a football in their hands. They make better officers when they learn their football on the ground up here, and Navy is prouder of them."

Lots of Material. "The material thus is even and there is lots of it. We want 180-pounders, compact and alive. They give a team velocity, impact, they can hit. Bigger men are sluggish. We have no place for them. Neither is there a place here for seniors who still are in the development stage, unless they are moral factors and are good for the squad in other ways."

"It never matters who starts our games. There are 33 men on the 'first' team, all capable of starting. That is the strongest part of our system. Not a man on that field is over 21 years old. The squad averages 18 years of age."

Navy has been scrimmaging for two weeks preparing for the first game with Davis Elkins next Saturday and Bill still can't name a starting eleven. His best backfield probably consists of "Whitney" Lloyd, last year's ace, and Bill Spring at the halves; Joe Clifton, veteran fullback, and John Cannon, quarterback.

Another backfield Ingram says is better than any he had last year is Cass, Bauer, McCracken and Welch. Another, Bauer, Castree, Miller and Morse, also is a fine combination. There are dozens of line-men with Beans and Byng outstanding ends; Gliese and Wilson, the probable tackle choices; Captains Burke and Chappel, the guards, and Dorg, center.

This Navy team, tackling Notre Dame, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Princeton alternate games, may find itself by midseason, as Ingram hopes, or it may take the peak Bill has set for all future midseason. Navy frankly fears Notre Dame this year. But in the future, Navy is willing that all teams know their path to championship recognition, has an ever-present hurdle, and that hurdle can be found any season down by the shores of the Chesapeake.

George Steiff, aged nineteen, who teaches members of the Midman (N.Y.) Golf club, is one of America's youngest golf professionals.

Iowa supporters believe they will have the outstanding back of the football season in Miles McLean, whom they regard as a back almost as good as Jim Thorpe was.

Only four amateur golfers have succeeded in winning the United States open championship since it began in 1895—Robby Jones, Jerry Travers, Chick Evans and Francis Ouimet.

Willie Hoppe, the former "boy wonder" of billiards, has been playing professionally for more than 20 years, during which time he has earned close to $200,000. He is forty-two years old.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press)

New York.—A charming familiar voice from afar doubtless perhaps has thrilled Captain Sir George Herbert Williams on his way to the Antarctic. Suzanne Bennett, actress, his fiancée, sang half an hour on the radio, hoping that he would hear her. He is at sea aboard the steamship Southern Cross.

Northampton, Mass.—A prominent young railroad clerk finds it a pleasant variety from his first job to motor with the young lady with whom he has an understanding. John Coolidge and Florence Trumbull drove 100 miles from New Haven in her roadster to visit his mother and grandmother. They went to church with Mrs. Coolidge and sat with her in the family pew.

New York.—The organization for the improvement of divorce laws, just formed, intends to ask the legislature to make judiciousness a legal ground for divorce. It believes such is the cause of many decrees.

Mukden, Manchuria.—Tough on General Chang Tsung-Chang. After being defeated in battle he could locate only eight of his 25 wives.

New York.—John Markle, coal magnate, will occupy alone, except for servants, a Fifth avenue apartment costing $1,000,000. It will take up two entire floors and will have 15 servants' rooms, 24 baths, three kitchens, four elevators and 26 telephones.

Vancouver, B. C.—J. Graham Gates of Toronto is here with his motorcycle, the rear wheel of which was dipped in the Atlantic ocean and the front wheel in the Pacific. He rode it 5,000 miles from Halifax in 21 days.

New York.—William J. Bowen is to be paid $10,000 a year for life by the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union. Retiring because of health, he was made president emeritus.

Drumshambo, County Leitrim, Ireland.—The population here is 300 and there are 17 saloons. Efforts to reduce the number resulted in one license being cancelled.

Mullagh, County Clare, Ireland.—This village challenges Drumshambo's record for alcoholic accessibility. For a population of 87 Mullagh has nine public houses.

London.—Princess Elizabeth, two year old daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, has a new cow. It came from Alderney in the Channel Islands and cost the Duke £200.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

A Practical Apron

6197. Serviceable and not difficult to develop is this style here shown. In black sateen as pictured with pockets and pipings of blue or white or in printed cotton or dimity with rick rack braid or binding in a contrasting color it is also likeable. Belt extensions are fastened to the overlapping back portions and fasten in front holding the apron to the form and making the adjusting a matter of ease. Useful pockets ornament the front. A pretty development would be green and white dimity with binding of green or orange.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. To make this garment for a medium size will require 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material together with 1/4 yard of contrasting material for facings on pockets, flaps and belt.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.
Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 600 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

TWO MORE KINGSTONIANS
TO MAKE SAN ANTONIO TRIP.

Two more reservations have been made for the American Legion trip to the national convention in San Antonio.

Eugene P. MacConnell, assistant treasurer of the North River Coal Company, and a Legionnaire, is one of the lucky ones. Mr. MacConnell, who was formerly a cow-puncher out in Montana, has again felt the call of bucking bronchos and says the rodeo at San Antonio and the bullfight over the border in Mexico are more than he cares to miss.

Marty Hagenlocker, the local speedboat king, is the other one who has decided that this trip is a bargain at the rate of $130, which covers the entire expenses of the 11-day trip, excepting meals for five days in San Antonio. The $130 also includes sight-seeing trips at Atlanta, Ga., and New Orleans, La., as well as a shore dinner on the Isle of Caprice, in the Gulf of Mexico, about 17 miles off shore from Biloxi, Miss.

Only five more berths are available in the two Pullman cars which have been leased. These will be sold to the first comers. Members of the Legion or any man not connected in any way with the American Legion are invited to join. For full information see A. J. Murphy, Jr., R. T. O., of the American Legion.

RECIPES TO BE DEMONSTRATED
AT HOME SERVICE LESSON.

Miss Elizabeth Plank, of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, will give a home service lesson at 5 Field Court Tuesday evening at 7:30 and Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 on the subject "Now Let's Pickle." With the preserving season in full swing some of the following recipes which will be demonstrated at the class will find a welcome place on the store room shelf. Some of the old favorites and several new delicacies will be prepared as follows: Cucumber oil pickles, pickled peaches, pickled pears, Bordeaux sauce, pepper hash, cherry olives, tomato and apple chutney, chili sauce, yellow tomato preserves. These home service lessons are given each week and are free to the women of Kingston and vicinity. Similar weekly lessons are conducted at Catskill, Saugerties and Rosendale.

New Showroom for
Southard-Beichert

When the new building which is to be erected by Michael Goffredi on Broadway near Cedar street is completed, a large portion of the ground floor will be occupied by Southard-Beichert, Inc., local Oldsmobile and Stewart truck dealers, as a showroom.

The building is to occupy the lot on which two or three small frame buildings now stand between the Broadway Theatre and the old hotel property on the corner of Broadway and Cedar street. This property, which is also to be remodeled, and the adjoining lot and buildings, were recently purchased by Goffredi.

Southard-Beichert at present occupy salesrooms at 579 Broadway, just below Cedar street, where they have been located since 1922, and also a service station at 11 Railroad avenue. The service station will be continued in its present location, but the showrooms will be moved to the new Goffredi building as soon as this is completed.

The large increase in business of Southard-Beichert makes it imperative that they secure larger quarters, as their present showrooms are inadequate for their needs. While the exact dimensions of their new showrooms are not yet known, as the plans have not yet been drawn, their new quarters will afford ample space for displaying a complete line of Oldsmobiles and Stewart trucks. Particular attention will be paid in designing the new showrooms to the needs of an automobile selling concern.

The present salesrooms of Southard-Beichert will be vacated on October 1. Until the time the new building is ready for occupancy, all business will be transacted at 11 Railroad avenue, offices of the company.

Color of Sounds

Observations have proved that a considerable percentage of people unconsciously associate color with every sound they hear. Pleasant notes seem to go with soft, delicate shades. Some roderately high notes suggest gold, shrill ones silver and harsh notes seem to go with deep sounds.

All Cooks Look Alike

to the hungry man, but what a sad disappointment when the "Kitchen queen" quits suddenly and the table looks anything but satisfying to a zealous appetite. When in doubt as to what to do, use The Freeman's "Help Wanted" Counter-Work Department.

Make it safe to be hungry!

When the children come bounding in from school, ravenous for that delicious "between meals" bite, can you always give them food that you know is healthfully fresh? You can if you keep their food in a General Electric Refrigerator.

This perfect refrigeration is your year-round protection. It keeps all foods safely below the 50 degree danger point. It maintains the constant dry cold that successfully checks the growth of bacteria.

The General Electric Refrigerator is a special comfort because it is so completely automatic and worry-proof that you never have to oil it. It's unusually quiet. All its machinery is sealed in an air-tight steel casing, placed on top, safe from dust and difficulties. The design is indeed "years ahead" . . . different from all others.

You should study these efficient, roomy, easy-to-keep-clean refrigerators. Decide which model is best suited to your needs. When you come in, you can arrange for convenient deferred payments, if you wish.
